1 Home Page & Login

1.1 Home Page

Marker 1 links back to the home page, Marker 2 navigates to the Latest News area (Section 2), Marker 3 to the Casualty Index (Section 3), Marker 4 to the Articles area (Section 4), Marker 5 the Search area (Section 5) and Marker 6 to the Contact Us page. At the bottom of the page, these links are reproduced, with the addition of Marker 7, which navigates to the Login page (Section 1.2). These two menu bars appear on every page.

Other areas on the page are the latest news article (Marker 8), the list of casualties who died today (Marker 9) and the main narrative (Marker 10).

The screenshot shows the home page of the Dover War Memorial Project. At the top, the title "Dover War Memorial Project" is centered. Below it, a blue navigation bar contains links: Home (Marker 1), Latest News (Marker 2), Casualty Index (Marker 3), Articles (Marker 4), Search (Marker 5), and About & Contact (Marker 6). Below the navigation bar, the main content area features a "Welcome to Dover's Virtual Memorial" section. This section includes a paragraph about the project's purpose, a quote from the War Memorial Committee, and a "Latest News" section (Marker 8) with a "testing" article. To the right of the "Latest News" section is a "Casualties Commemorated Today" table (Marker 9) with columns for Name, Date of Death, and Died. The table lists David Abbbb, who died on 1916-08-04, 101 years ago. At the bottom of the page, a second blue navigation bar contains links: Home, Latest News, Casualty Index, Articles, Search, About & Contact, and Login (Marker 7). A footer at the very bottom states: "This website uses cookies for various required functions. Copyright 2006-17 © Marilyn Stephenson-Knight. All Rights Reserved".

1.2 Login

This page (Figure 2) allows the user to login to the site to make various changes. Marker 1 is where the username must be entered with Marker 2 being the password field. Marker 3 submits this information.

The screenshot shows the 'Dover War Memorial Project' website. At the top, it lists patrons: Dame Vera Lynn, CH, DBE, LL.D, M.Mus and Admiral of the Fleet the Lord Boyce, KG, GCB, OBE, DL. Below this is a navigation bar with links: Home, Latest News, Casualty Index, Articles, Search, and About & Contact. The main content area features a 'Login' form with two input fields: 'Username:' and 'Password:'. A blue 'Submit' button is located below the password field. Three red arrows, labeled 1, 2, and 3, point to the username field, password field, and submit button respectively. At the bottom, there is a footer with a copyright notice: 'This website uses cookies for various required functions. Copyright 2006-17 © Marilyn Stephenson-Knight. All Rights Reserved'.

Once a user has logged in, menu bars change. The top menu bar gains another row, with the login button on the bottom bar being replaced with a logout button, as can be seen in Figure 3. Marker 1 shows the currently logged in user, Marker 2 navigates to the config page (Section 6) and Marker 3 the admin help page (where this document is stored). Marker 4 and Marker 5 allow the user to logout. Marker 6 allows the user to edit the narrative text. These appear in numerous places across the site.

Welcome to Dover's Virtual Memorial Edit

The Dover War Memorial Project is run entirely by volunteers. The Project began on Remembrance Sunday, 2005, to honour all those we lost from our front-line town, Dover; the Gateway to England.

Much information on the casualties of war is freely available in public records or the internet - this site is different. This site introduces the people we so sadly lost, not only in records but as remembered by those who knew them. The Virtual Memorial is made with love, dedicated to those who gave their lives and to the relatives they left behind. In the past, the present, and for the future, through many different initiatives and programmes, The Dover War Memorial Project preserves the memory of our Fallen, that it may remain forever green.

We are greatly privileged to work on the Project, to meet so many kind and courageous people, and to learn so much of the dedication and sacrifice of those who died. Dover can never replace them, and our world is much the poorer.

Welcome, then, as you meet those who never came home. As you join us, please remember in your thoughts and prayers those who gave and those who continue to give so much.

The noble example of self-sacrifice, the monument commemorates may help us to realize that the virtue of our lives will be according to how freely we are willing to give them for our fellow man without thought of reward except that which we shall know in the giving.

The War Memorial Committee, Dover, 1924
